History of the Building that Was Destroyed ... Unsafe for Years Past

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 11.—The fire in the Nowhall house was discovered at 4 a. m., yestorday. In less than half an hour the whole building, long designated as a death-trap, was onveloped in flames. Scenes of the utmost terror prevailed, the inmates of the doomed building jumping by dozens from the upper stories, covering the stone sidewalks with lifeless bodies. The shricks of the unfortunates filled the air, in a heartrending manner, people below being unable to render any aid. Quite a number of the terrified gnests and employes of the hotel appeared at the windows, and, seeing the distance to the ground, fell back to perish in the flames.

The employes of the hotel, which accommodated 800 guests, numbered eighty-six, mostly lodged in the sixth story. Exit by way of the roof was cut off by the fire, and the two standpipes, with fire ladders, were not available for the same reason. A very few were saved by

All the stores and offices on the ground floor, with contents, were destroyed. There were on the Michigan street side the offices of the Mutual Union Telograph company, H. J. Baumgartner's sign painting shop, Goetz's barber shop, Curdick & Armitige, job printers. On the Broadway front the Manufacturers' bank, Metropolitan Plate Glass Insurance company, insurance agencies of Charles E. Crain, William T. Durand, G. P. Howitt, C. F. Hibbard & Co., F. W. Montgomory & Co., B. M. Weil, West & Myors, and L A. Wheoler, and J. H. Watson, agent Canada Southern railway; the office of Nelson's coal yard, and office of the Werchants' Dispatch freight line.

A number of wholesale establishments on East Water street were damaged. The Scene of the Fire.

A Sca of Flame.

At 5 o'clock the doomed hotel presented a sight that will never be forgotten by those who behold it. The whole inside of the building was one mass of roaring flames, and a perfecshower of sparks and sinders were blown by ; brisk southeast wind over the northern part of the city. The sky was illuminated as bright as day, and the hissing and roaring of the dovouring element could be heard for blocks. The large, heavy cornice on the southeast cor ner of the building came down with a fearful erash, burying under the ruins Ben Hall, a tireman of steamer No. 4. He was quickly gotten out from among the red-hot plates of the galvanized iron of the cornice, and it was found that he was seriously but not fatally hart. The sixth, fifth and fourth floors broke through at once, and carried everything with them to the ground floor. A huge bulk of flames shot up about tifty feet high whou the thoors came down, and an agonizing shout from the multitude went up. From that time the fire had undisputed sway juside the bare walls, and toward 6 o'clock the buildings on the east side fronting on Water street, began to burn. Two steamors were sont around to East Water street to protect the establishments of that thoroughtere. At this time all the stores and offices under the hotel were enwrapped in flames.

Heroic Fire Laddles.

The fire department fought the fire heroically, but all they could do was to prevent its spread to the surrounding business blocks. The heat was so intouse that the cupols of the Chamber of Commerco began to smoke as if a flored fire was raging within. The mon of hook and ladder trucks 1 and 2 worked almost like domons. They had put ladders across the alley from the bank building to the burning hotel, and crawled across. First, Edward Richard and Herman Strauss, from truck 1. The latter carried an unconcious girl right of the flames across the dangerous and flimes passage-way. John Bornlesser, A. A. Werth, E. E. Nodine, and Garrett Green, of truck No. 2. followed, and about twolve people were saved by the brave laddies.

At the Morgae and Police Station. At the morgue a horrid sight was beheld. The two small there were soon truck with bodies, tightly packed, and then the bodies of girls, women, nen, and waiter-boys were laid promiscuously on the stone flags, almost in a heap, as the police patrol brought in the bodies haree and four at a time. At 6.30 seventeen bodies were laid down in the dreary place which was locked up between the trips of the patrol wagen, and therefore no identification was possible. The floor of the general office of the Contral police station was turned into a lazaret, persons father, but winding them selves in the blankets on the floor in exeruciating pain.

Horrible Deaths and Suffering.

In the American Express office, corner of Broadway and Michigan atreets, Allon Johnson, of Allen Johnson, & Co., commission merchants, room 34, Chamber of Counterco, and wife, were stretched on the hard floor in an evidently dying condition. The two occupied a corner room on the third floor, and both were forced to jump from the window. A blanket was held to catch them, but it proved a weak check to the force of the fall. Mr. Allon was badly hurt about the back and lower limbs, and probably internally. His cries and groans as be writhed in anguish were enough to molt the most indifferent heart. Mrs. Johnson was even more seriously injured, and those endeavoring to minister to her comfort expected death at every moment. Horrible Deaths and Suffering.

those endeavoring to minister to her comfort expected death at every moment.

Dr. Thompson was among the physicians present at the scene. He was at the express office, the place of service. A strange woman was also on the door in her night-dress and covered with coats. She was one who had jumped, but was taken to the office alive. She lay in a comatose condition until 4:30, when breathing stopped. In the back-room of the office was the dead body of a strange man. He had jumped and was picked up unconscious. He died soon after being taken to the office.

Thrilling Escapes.

The Hiling Escapes.

Edward Pollock of Laneaster, Wis., was a guest in the house. He occupied a room on the fourth floor of the Broadway front, nearly over the balcony. At about 3:35 he was awakened by the breaking of glass in the transom over the door, and the floree flames entered through the opening. He immediately gathered up his clothes as far as possible and stepping out on the balcony, he put on his clothes and swung to the balcony beneath, where half a dozen others were gathered. Here sheets and bad-clothes were tied together, and the ground reached by the rope. Mr. Pollock was at one time a representative of The Sontinel at Laneaster, and came to Milwanicoe to buy the outfit for a new paper at his place. He said to a reporter of The Sontinel that the fire seemed all above him when he first awalts enot, and an instant after the dances had en-Thrilling Escapes. oned, and an instant after the flames had en-gulfed everything. Cashior Candee, of the Manufacturers' bank, accompanied by his son, reached the fire shortly before 5 o'clock, and entered his edice. He rescued from his safe a box containing all the valuable papers, checks and eash, amounting to $650,000, which he earlied to the deer but was in a considerable state of orcitement, and was mable to rescue it from the building until two volunteers as-sisted him to earry it across the street to the American express office, where it was put into eare quarters. oned, and an instant after the flames had en safe quarters.

Leaping into Death's Arms.

It is utterly impossible to even attempt a description of the forrible scenes. Upon the ley flagstones the body of an unknown man was lying, covered only with a shirt, both legs broken, and the skull cleft in twain. Another poor fellow had crawled up the Chamber of Commerce steps. His back was broken, and he meaned piteously. Still another attempted to jump from a sixth story window on Breadway upon the canvas held by willing hands but he jumped too short, and fell with his back upon the bannister, doubled up, and crashed lifeless on the pavement in the alley. Not less than seven bedies were picked up, most of them poor waiter girls who were driven frantic by the smoke, and jumped, heedless, into the abyse below. Leaping into Death's Arms.

Sickening Scenes.

One of the most trying seenes incident to the One of the most trying scenes incident to the fire was witnessed at the mergue at 6 o'clock. There were fifteen bedies laid upon the marble slabs and upon the floor, as the allotted space was to small to accommedate them all. One of the first bodies recognized was that of Mrs. John Gilbert, wife of Mr. Gilbert, of the Minnie Palmer company. They were married the day before in Chicage, and the bride of a night lay upon the cold marble, charred and bruised almost beyond recognition. It is said that she was a Mise Sutton, of Chicage; Kittie Linnehan, chambermaid; Bossie Brown, whose parents live on Petroit street, betwoen Jefferson han, chambormad; Bossie Brown, whose par-ents live on Detroit street, between Jefferson and Jackson streets; Mitchell Burla, Mary Burko, and Augusta Jessa were also recognized among the dead. The latter were chamber-maids who jumped from the upper story into the alley. It is said by those who held the canvas at that spot that the scene was perfectly sickening. The bodies foll around them on every side, and lay with broken heads and bruised bodies, only half covered with cloth-ing.

Guests and members of the hotel help rent the air with their heart-rending cries and appeals for help, which those in the fast increasing multitude in the streets below were powerless to render. Men who in the daily creasing multitude in the streets below were powerless to render. Men who in the daily walks of life have been accounted heartless and unfeeling wrung their hands in despair, running about utterly bewildered exclaiming: "My God! My God! This is herrible." Then a black object would appear on the outside of a window, driven out by the smoke and dame, a piercing scream rend the morning air, and a heavy thud would amounce that a human being had dropped from the dizzy height to meet death on the pavoment below. At one time there were six persons hanging from the window-sills of the lifth story at the same time, crying in agonized tones for the help that could not be rendered them, and one after another loosed their grip and mot their fate. One man, by letting himself down at arm's longth from a lifth-story window, put his feet through the window below and reached the fourth floor in safety. The operation was repeated until the third floor was reached, each point gained in his perilous descent being greated with encouraging cheers from the vestanders. As he was putting his feet goint gained in his perileus descent being greeted with encouraging cheers from the bystanders. As he was putting his feet through the top of the second-story window his hands slipped from the sill above, and with a wild shrick of despair he fell backward, turning over several times, and, striking the paveneur on his head with a duil thind, was picked up and borne off amagiled corpse.

Mr. Brown made a rope of sheete, which he tied to a sewing machine. He slid down and received but slight injuries. Capt C. W. Briggs, of Grand Rapids, an attoracy for the Chicago, Milwarkee & St Paul, had a narrow escape. He was on the second floor, but, in consequence of the hotel being se crowded, was not given his usual room. He was awakened by the breaking of glass, and had only time to catch up a portion of his clothes and get into the hall. The smoke was blinding, and he was so bewildered that he had no idea what direction to take to reach the stairway. Making a rush, he ran against the railing and foll, and in attempting to get up fell down-stairs, bruising one of his arms and legs. The fail down-stairs saved his life.

James Maxweil arrived at the hotel at midnight from Chicago. He remarked to the clerk that, as that was an unlucky corner. The latter heard him though, and replied reprovingly: "What if we have lost everything? The little woman then bravely began reliaving the sufferings of those around her by supplying them with water and a display of other acts of sympathetic kindness.

Mr. Crompton had room 3th, and Miss Herbert the one adjoining. The first he knew was the indistinct sonse or a terrible noise outside. Before he could fully realize what was going on, he was startled by the knecks of Miss. Herbert at the folding-doors helween their two rooms. He unlocked it and she came in at once. Her apartment was so full of smoke that it was not thought safe for her to rother, and both startled for the safe for her to return, and both started for the fire escape. Mr. Crohapton managed to throw on some of his clothes, but Miss Herbert had no time to save saything, Mr. Crompbon cur-rying her down with nothing on busher night dross. There was a strange incident when Mrs.

Some of them were nearly naked. One of the irremen then entered the burning building and attempted to save a girl that apparently was half crazy. She resisted the firman, but, inally after a hard fight, he succeeded in carrying her across to the opposite building. The brave fireman then returned to the burning building and brought out three dead bodies. Of the trust funds, the sum of $798,312.50 was during the fiscal year invested in United States bonds; the sum of $76,882.17 was loaned to towns and school districts, and the sum of $141,447.03 was paid out of the trespass fund to the beneficiaries under the law.

SCHOOL FUND.

The receipts during the year for the school fund are given in the secretary's report at $326,159.60, of which amount $130,000 was for United States bonds which had been called in during the year. The disbursements from this fund are reported at $470,961.12, all of which, except the sum of $387.62 refunded for overpayments, is invested according to law in interest-bearing securities. The total amount of school fund now at interest is $2,805,278.23, and the cash balance belonging to the fund is $7.767.35. DRAINAGE FUND.

The receipts of the drainage fund for the year were $85,012.93, almost entirely derived from the sale of lands, and the disbursements were $48,542,59.

ST. CROIN AND LAKE SUPERIOR R. R. TRES-PASS FUND.

The St. Croix and Lake Superior R. R. trespass fund consists of moneys collected by the state for trespasses upon the land grant made to the state by acts of congress, approved June 3, 1856, and May 5, 1864, commonly known as the "St. Croix and Lake Superior Land Grant." Under chapter 46, laws of 1869, and acts amendatory thereof, these lands have been protected by the state, and the moneys collected held in trust—less the expense of collection—for the use and benefit of the roads entitled to said grant. This fund on the 30th day of September. 1881, amounted to $186,084.88, and there has been collected during the year $139,-24. There has been disbursed from this fund in accordance with chapter 198 of the laws of 1882, to the companies enti-tled thereto, the sum of $141,447.03, and there remained in the treasury on the 30th day of September, 1881, $42,367.07. I required the companies receiving payments under the law to give to the state full release and acquittances, and a full and complete guaranty for the protection of the rights, of any other claimants, should there be any.

· EXPENDITURES AND REVENUES.

The secretary of state makes the follow ing estimate of the expenses to be de-frayed from the treasury during the year beginning January 1, 1884, and of the revenues of the state for that period: | Revenues: | $ 703,500 00 | Tayes onthorized | 255,220 88 |

Amount to be provided by the legis-lature to defray the expanditures for the year commencing Janua-ry 1, 1881.

100,000 00 $1,041,720 $8 This estimate shows that it will be necessary for the legislature to provide the sum of $100,000.00 for the year 1854, which will be two-tenths of a mill on the assessed valuation.

CONTINGENT FUND.

The balance to the credit of the governor's contingent fund on January 8, 1883, was $1,835.27, and the expenditures therefrom during the year were $774.79. In view of the possible demands upon ated therefor at the present session. WAR DEBT.

The account between the state of Wisconsin and the United States for the direct war tax, as shown by the statement of the first comptroller of the United States treasury, stands as follows: Amount due to the United States September 30, 1881, $207,685.16. During the year there has been placed to the credit of the state, $156,539.59, leaving a balance due the United States of $51,145.57. There are now before the departments for adjustment, claims which will be allowed and credited to the state, amounting to $20,000. The state claims as due from the United States a balance of $89,845.04 upon the claims presented by her for the equip-ment and payment of troops during the war. This balance has all been disallowed by the accounting officers, and consists of various items ranging from $10 to $300. Many of the items have been ruled out for want of proper vouch ers and evidence, and it is probable that with considerable research and labor many of the items may yet be allowed, but I do not feel at liberty to incur expense in that direction without first receiving legislative sanction.

PUBLIC LANDS.

The sale of public lands during the fiscal year was 218,395.84 acres, at prices varying from fifty cents to three dollars per acre. The report of the commissioners shows that there is now on hand nearly 1,000,000 acres of public lands; that there are nearly 240,000 acres not yet put the market, and that there have been selected during the year 67,000 acres for which the state will soon receive patents. These selections were made by sending a competent man into the field to examine each tract, and I am satisfied that the work has been faithfully performed and that thereby the state has secured good lands. The commissioners in their re-port suggest cogent reasons for some changes in the laws regulating the sale of lands, to the end that the state may be enabled to obtain prices nearer the value of the land sold. I command the subject, and these suggestions of the commissioners thereon, to your careful consideration. The commissioners also ask that section 258 of the revised statutes be amended so as to give a wider field for the investment of the trust funds. This subject likewise demands serious attention.

EDUCATION.

The report of the state superintendent affords great cause for satisfaction as to the educational interests of the state, and for a full discussion of the special subjects that may require your attention I would refer you to this report. There seems to be no want of harmony in the various parts of our school system, and with the general development and progress we have every reason to be pleased The attendance at schools of pupils between the ages of seven and fifteen years the time when all children ought to at tend schools, is eighty-seven per cent. of the whole number in the state between those ages. This percentage proves Wisconsin to be fairly equal to the eastern states in appreciation of school privileges. The total valuation of school property, including buildings, sites, hora-ries, etc., is $5,614,938. The total amount expended for public and private schools during the school year was $2,577,402. I need not impress upon you the impor tance of fostering our common school systm and promoting in every way the cause of popular education. UNIVERSITY.

The board of regents of the university eport satisfactory progress in all departments; that the appropriation of last year has been judiciously expended, but that there are yet some repairs greatly needed in making the older buildings what they should be. The ambition of the young for a higher and advanced educa-tion cannot be too liberally encouraged, and I commend all the needs of this institution to your liberality. The departments of agriculture and practical mechanics would seem to demand particular notice. The experiments of the professor of agriculture, made by virtue of special appropriations of the legislature, upon amber cane and the ensilage of fodders, have been in a large measure completed, and Professor Henry reports that beyond a doubt sugar and syrup can be profitably made from amber cane in this state, and that the soil of the state is particularly well adapted to the growing of amber cane. The professor likewise reports that his experiments with ensilage of fodders demonstrate the fact that the food product for stock can be greatly increased at very little cost to the farmers. He also reports that there is still needed an appropriation of $600 to pay the processor of chemistry for six months' service, and I hope this will re-ceive your early attention. The interests represented by the farmer and the mechanic are second in importance to none other, and any legislation which will stimulate the efforts of either, or which will epen the door to more comprenen sive and intelligent effort, will be profitable in the long run to the commonwealth. To this end I recommend that there be appropriated annually the sum of six thousand dollars for the establishment and maintenance of an experimental station on the university farm, and I also recommend that provision be made for the publication and distribution of reports of the experiments heretofore made, and of such as shall be hereafter NORMAL SCHOOLS.

There have been 948 students in attendance at the various normal schools during the year. There have been 31 gradu-ated and 61 licensed, and there are now employed in the public schools of the state 330 graduates of the normal schools and 1,053 undergraduates. Sixty institutes have been held in 51 counties, with a total attendance of 3,882, and at an expense of $6,433. The regents report the schools in a prosperous condition, and earnestly endeavoring to perform the work assigned to them.

STATE PRISON. At the close of the fiscal year there were coffined in the state prison at Wau-pan 348 persons. The total cost of main-taining the prison for the past year has been $47,751.38, of which the prisoners' earnings have furnished $31,129.30; receipts from visitors were $193.50, making the net cost to the state of supporting the institution, $16,428.53. The broad distinction between the confirmed criminal and the man who committed his first offense, and who by judicious training may be restored to self-sustaining and self-respecting citizenship, leads me to the belief that the legislature might, with much propriety, devise some method by which the courts should determine whether the offense was the first or not and that the sentences should be such that the public would be protected from the depredations of the habitual criminal. The board of control, in their report, have recommended a system of interme this fund the next two years, I recoin— have recommended a system of interme-mend that the sum of $2,000 be appropri— diate sentences. While the matter should.

receive your earnest consideration, I am not prepared to say whether the criminal who makes a crime a profession should be sentenced to police supervision when his term of imprisonment has expired, or the sentence of imprisonment should be intermediate.

the industrial school at Waukesha on September 30, last, was 299; average at-tendance during the year, 321. The gathering together of the wayward and incorrigible boys from every community, compelling them to attend school, teaching them habits of industry and obedience to just authority, and endeavoring to impress their minds with just conceptions of the true dignity of manhood, is one of the most humane and profitable duties of the state. But the work requires a most studious and painstaking watchfulmost studious and paluscaking watching uses to avoid the liability of making the iumate more incorrigible or narrow and contracted in his usefulness by too long contracted in his usefulness by too long the contracted in his usefulness by the contracted in his usef reliance upon the institution for advice and support. The boy is sentenced be-fore the age of fourteen and may be kept there until he is eighteen; and I have ser-ious doubts as to whether the term of attendance is not too long; as to whether the institution should not be rather more a school and somewhat less a penal insti-tution. There is some force in the view that if a boy cannot be reformed in two or three years so that he can properly conduct himself in the community, longer attendance in such an institution is not only useless to him, but is fraught with danger to his companions, and may, and probably always does, exert a very injurious influence upon the newer and younger inmates of the institution. BENEVOLENT INSTITUTIONS.

The whole number of patients who have received treatment at the state hospital for the insane at Mendota during the past fiscal year was 656. The number dis-charged recovered was 49; improved 59; unimproved, 56. The total cost of this hospital for the year was $95,648 37, being a weekly cost per capital of $3.92. At the commencement of the past year the northern hospital for the insane had under treatment 512 patients; admitted dur-ing the year, 225; total, 737. Of these there were discharged recovered, 64; improved, 26; unimproved, 30. The number present at the close of the year was 564; average for the year, 529. The cost of maintaining this hospital was $98,160.02, which is equal to a weekly cost per capita of $3.57. I am constrained, by the great importance thereof, to again call your attention to the proper care of the meane. The laws of the state now provide a very mixed system for the care of the insane; a portion are cared for under a state system, a portion under a county system, and a portion under a combined state and county system. Whether all these dif-ferent systems in operation at the same time throughout the state work advantageously to the unfortunates and to the state, or which one of the systems is the most humane and economical, are subjects to which you cannot give to much care and study. I cannot believe that it is conducive to the well-being of society or properly discharging the duty we owe to the insune, to care for them within the walls of county jails and almshouses. The insane are cared for that society may be protected from dangerous lunatics being at large, and humanity dictates that we secure the wellare and comfort of those who are thus unable to care for themselves. It is not the full discharge of this duty, however, that we keep the insane from doing harm, or even that we son that, unless speedy action he taken upon it, large local expenditures under the present system will have been made, thereby precluding a change hereafter without serious loss.

INSTITUTE FOR DEAF AND DUMB.

The whole number of pupils enrolled at the institution for the education of the deaf and dumb at Delayan, during the past year, was 221; of these there were present September 30, 1882, 182; average attendance during the year, 176. The total cost of supporting this institution for the year was $34,375.94, which amount represents a weekly cost per capita of $3.-

At the institution for the education of the blind at Janesville, there have been enrolled during the year a total of 82 pu-pils, of whom there were present on the last day of the fiscal year, 57; average attendance for the year, 63. The total cost of supporting this institution was $16,-726.17, equal to a weekly cost per capita of S5.11.

STATE BOARD OF SUPERVISION. Full details of the expenditures, work and needs of the charitable, reformatory and penal justitutions of the state arcontinued in the annual report of the Board of Supervision, which will be submitted for your consideration. This board has performed its difficult duties in a laudable and satisfactory manner, with considerable saving to the state. The manner in which the state's duty in properly caring for and protecting the numblest of the unfortunates in the charitable and benevolent institutions is discharged cannot be too cautiously guarded, and the power of legitimate and intelligent visitation and inspection, as desired by the Board of Charities and Reform, can at least result in no harm.

CHARITIES AND REFORM. The Stafe Board of Charities and Re-

orm has the power of inspection of all public and private charitable and correctional institutions in the state, excepting the six state institutions. Their report, which is now in the hands of the printer, shows the semi-state institutions Mrlwaukee county insanc asylum and the Milwaukee county house of correctionto be in excellent condition; that there are 62 county jails, with 7936 prisoners during the year, and 255 at the date of the report; that the jails are generally in good condition, but they report that there are a few in such wretched condi-tion and so insecure that they should be condemned if there were any power competent to do so. Of the poor houses, 39 in number, with 1859 inmates during the year, and 1179 at the date of the report, they say the condition is good, and that the class of dependent population is as well cared for as is considered desirable The increase of private benevolent institutions, both in number and resources, as reported, speaks well for the benevolent disposition of the people of the state. The Board make numerous recommendstions, and they should be carefully considered. They ask that their power of visitation be extended to the six state in. stitutions, and this recommendation meets my approval.

THE NATIONAL GUARD fully meets the constitutional standard in being in the strictest sense "well regulated," and its energies are being well directed to the attainment of a thorough knowledge of rife practice, guard and camp duty. The maximum fixed by the legislature, in pursuance of constitutional authority, of 35 companies, with a membership of 3335, has been reduced, in the interests of more companies.

the interests of more compact organiza-tion and economy, to 33 companies, with a membership of 2247. The number of boys in attendance at Under the authority of chapter 162, laws of 1882, tents and camp equipage sufficient to comfortably encamp 400 men have been purchased and about two-thirds of the force ordered into camps of instruction for six days, with results that imply justify the expense. The results obtained in the administra tion of the force, in proportion to the ex-pense incurred in its behalf, will favora-bly bear the most critical comparison with those obtained in any of the states. For full details I refer you to the reports of the Adjutant and Quartermaster Generals, and I especially ask your attention to the practical suggestions of the Adjutant General, and particularly with reference to the war records, which should be cared for and preserved at an early date.

INSURANCE.

The valuable report of the Insurance Commissioner shows that for the year ending December 31, 1881, the fire insurance cempanies had:
 Hisks written $165,338,542

 Premiums received
 1,997,243

 Losses paid
 925,793

The life insurance companies doing business in the state reported for the year ending March 1, 1882:

The Commissioner recommends the passage of a law prescribing a uniform policy contract. I have no doubt that such a law, properly guarded, would sim-plify the liability of the companies for losses and avoid many misunderstandings upon the part of the people, which now grow into expensive litigation, and is well worthy of your consideration. RAILROADS.

The year just closed has been one of more than usual activity in railroad en-terprise, both in the volume of business and in the building of new roads.

Fn June 30, 1881, the various companies doing business in the state of Wisconsin reported to the Railroad Commissioner a total mileage of 3,142.43 miles; the mileage reported June 30, 1882, was 3,475.73, an increase during what may be termed the railroad year of 333.3 miles. From June 30, 1882, to the end of the calendar year, December 31, 1882, 358.01 miles of year large land. consin reported to the Railroad Commismiles of rail were laid, making a total mileage of 3,833.74 miles of railroad in the state of Wisconsin December 31, 1882. The number of miles built during the calendar year was 390.29.

The prediction contained in my message to the legislature one year ago, of an increased amount of railroad construction during the year 1832, has been verified, and an almost trackless region of unbroken forest is now being transformed into thriving villages and prosperous homes, adding to the state needed railroad facilities, and vastly increasing its taxable values. If we except the year 1871 and the year 1863, the great years of railroad building in this country, the year 1882 stands foremost in railroad construction. The Wisconsin railroad earnings from June 30, 1881, to June 30, 1882, were $18,-765,428.32, an increase of $3,287,555.71 for make them happy; they have a right to be cured when possible, for they are thereby returned to society and take from the state a life-long charge. That this care and attention, so much desired, can best be secured in state institutions and under state supervision, I am firmly convinced, and I have thus argently brought the fault-possible to your attention for the reason of the state was: $10.276,746.45, leaving as net earnings $8.681.86; the operating expenses per mile were $3,088.24, and the net earnings per mile of operated road were $2,550.91. upon the roads of the state was 3,611,973 equal to 162,231,759 passengers carried one mile at an average cost per mile of a tride less than 2,83 cents. There were 5.499,321 tons of freight carried; an equal of S13,414,402 tons carried one mile; and the average rate per mile on each ton carried was a little less than 1.61 cents, which is a decrease of .07 of a cent per mile on each ton of freight carried.

The regulation of railroads by state authority, as a power for good, is no longer a matter of experiment or doubt. To be of the highest good, however, it does not need to be clothed with rigorous exactions or arbitrary authority. The laws should be fair and impartial to all, and while guarding and protecting with unerring certainty every right and interest of the people. est of the people, they should be adequate to the just protection of the real rights of capital.

The rmiroad companies doing business in the state paid during the year $586,1 328.58 toward the revenue of the state; but sleeping cars are running upon all roads of any considerable magnitude in the state, and upon most of the lines they are owned by foreign companies, which make no report of their cost or earnings, and while they are wealthy and money making corporations, they pay no revenue to the state. This is wrong, and the error should be corrected by appropriate legislation.

The Raigroad Commissioner system in Wisconsin has been a success, and while the complaints have not been numerous, they have always received prompt attention. I am informed that during a long term of years not a single case of litigaterm of the state tion has grown out of a complaint lodged with the Commissioner, but in every instance an amicable adjustment has been had, satisfactory to all parties concerned. It has been found much easier and better to adjust than to litigate, and in this way a better spirit has been developed and maintained between the people and the railroad corporations. I see no reason to doubt that the harmony now existing may continue uninterrupted for years to

AIR LINE LABORERS.

Under chapter I0, laws of 1882, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha R'y company deposited with me the sum of $78,000, and gave such security as was required of them to save harmless the state from any liability it may have incurred in feeding the laborers then thrown out of employment by the failure of the Chicago, Portage and Superior railroad company. There have been paid to the laborers direct $36,429.95; to the purchasers of time checks $5.482.90, and there was pro-rated to the subcontractors. material and supply men the sum of $33,087. The work of finding the amounts due and disbursing the sums has been very large; numerous claims have been disallowed and many have been cut down. The claims of the officers and engineer corps have been disallowed, and the quescorps have been desarrowed, and the ques-tion litigated in the supreme court, and the rejection of such claims fully sustained by the court. The security exacted from the company to which the grant was made by chapter 10 has been found ample to protect the state against, all liability in the rate of the said velocity. FISHERIES.

The commissioners of fisheries, working without pay, have merited approba-tion, for the success of their work. They have distributed during the year nearly a million of tront fry, and are preparing to add during the coming year, white fish and wall-eyed pike. It is suggested that in many of the counties in the state it would be very profitable, and is almost necessary, that there be a fish warden, whose duty it shall be to see that the laws for he preservation and protection of fish are duly executed. The expenditures made by the fish commission for the last fiscal year were $7,712.66, and they estimate that their expenditures for the next to years will be $8,000 a year. This enterprise is one that is now fostered by almost every state in the union, and Wisconsin is not far behind in the progress

The great majority ization of corporations under the general of these new comers have settled in the northern parts of the state. They were chiefly small farmers and farm laborers from Germany and Norway and Sweden, and will become important factors in developing the agricultural and other natural resources of Northern Wisconsin. The disbursements of the commission have been $5,147.83. ILLUMINATING OILS.

The state supervisor of inspectors of illuminating oils reports the workings of the inspectors of oils throughout the state and the names of the various inspectors appointed by him. He reports that there have been only two accidents reported to him that proved to be "lamp explosions;" and he suggests some amendments to the law relating to illuminating oils, and I commend his report to your careful consideration. LEWISTON LEVEE.

The Lewiston levee, provided for by chapter 138, laws of 1882, has been completed in a very satisfactory manner, and the commissioners bave drawn amount appropriated by the state therefor. The entire cost of the work was $9, 000, and the general government has assumed the payment of $3,000, and the town of Lewiston has agreed, by its board of supervisors, to keep the levee in good condition and repair for twenty

OVERPLOW OF FOX RIVER.

In conformity to the request contained in joint resolution No. 31, senate, the attorney general and myself -visited Washington to confer with the proper officers of the government as to the action which might and should be taken to abate the overflow in the Fox river and Lake Winnebago, and to prevent future injury to property around said lake and along said river. By agreement with the government officers, and through the efforts of our delegation in the sen ate and house, the following provise upon the subject was inserted in the clause of the river and harbor bill, making appropriation for the improvement of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers: "Provided, That the secretary of war shall, without delay, cause the chanel of the Lower Fox river, between Lake Winnebago and the upper government dam at Appleton, to be restored to its natural width and capacity, and shall cause such changes and alterations to be made in the dams at Menasha, and Appleton, not inconsistent with security to navigation. as may be necessary to reduce to and maintain the waters of Lake Winnebago and Little Buttes des Mortes, respectivoly, at their natural height; and a suffi-cient amount of said sum appropriated is made immediately available It only remains now for the secretary of war, through the engineer department, to carry out the plan as agreed upon and authorized by law. It is hoped that action will not longer be delayed, and that the plan adopted will afford adequate protection against injury from overdow, and that too, without detriment to any other locality or property.

CAPITOL EXTENSION.

Under the provisious of a law enacted by the legislature, the supreme court named Hon: N. B. Van Slyke and Hon. John Winans, and the state historical society named Hon. E. W. Keyes, as com-missioners, with certain of the state of-ficers named therein, to contract for the construction of a capitol extension. The board has performed this duty with much care, and the extensions are being erected in a thorough and substantial mauner, and will be ready for occupancy within the present year. There has been expended of the appropriation thus far the run of $41,217.89 for work already completed, the state retaining as a guaranty for the fulfillment of the contract, 15 per cent, of the estimated cost of the work AGRICULTURE.

This is the foremost interest in our state and merits your most considerate attention. The societies which have the various branches of agriculture should be liberally sustained. The time has arrived when means should be provided for gathering occurate monthly crops and livestock reports during the growing senson, and complete labor sta-tistics; and their promp circulation among the people. For this purpose I would reccommend that you provide for a state bureau of agricultural and labor statistics. THE STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

has been of material value to the farmers of the state, yet its influence for good could be largely increased if it received that encouragement which its importance demands. The society is now embarsome $4,000, caused in a measure by a clause in the act of last winter, appropriating two thousand dollars upon certain conditions which the society failed to comply with. I recommend that the conditions imposed by the acts appropri-ating aid to the state and northern agrioutturel societies be removed, and a suf-ficient amout appropriated to pay the in-debtedness of the former. DAURTING.

The dairy interest of our state has grown with such wonderful rapidity that it stands to day second to none in the Union. Our dairy products have now a national reputation and are eagerly sought in the markets. The Wisconsin dairymen's association is accomplishing great good in educating farmers to better methods and improved appliances, and should be encouraged by a liberal appropriation, the constitutional amendment submitted by the last legislature, and which amendments have now become a part of the constitution of the state. There will be no general election until 11884, and this is the first of the biennial sessions of the legislature. This makes it necessary that the appropriations for state purposes should be for two years instead of one as PHARMACK.

AMENDMENTS. The people, at the last election, ratified

the expenditure of more or less money and there is great danger that they would be held by the courts to be irrepealable contracts, and beyond the power of legislative revocation or control. It is palpably unwise to make any grant of powers, franchises or privileges, which may effect the public interests without reserving to the legislature the right to repeal or after the same, whenever in its judgment the public interest

SPECIAL LEGISLATION.

Since the adoption of the amendment which stands as article 4 of the constitution, prohibiting special legislation in the cases therein enumerated, there has been a persistent and quite successful effort to evade it. The method most pop ular is to make grants of powers and privileges to individuals, their associates and assigns. A great many such grants of very valuable and important franchises and privileges have been made, and made in a manner which, in my judgment, is dangerous to the public inter

These grants were, before the adoption of the constitutional amendment, usually

I recommend that no such grants be made by special act in cases where the object can be attained under general laws now existing, or which can be properly enacted, and that in all cases where special grant seems to be necessary, there be inserted in it a clause reserving the right to at any time revoke or modify

I also suggest to you the utility of considering whether a general law may not be framed under which cities may be organized as efficiently and well as by special act. If this can be done it will diminish materially special legislation, and will save a considerable amount to the people.

CONCLUSION.

I have thus sought to communicate to you briefly but intelligibly "the condition of the state," with such recommendations in the premises as I deem expedient.
I assure you of my cordin and diligent co-operation in every proper effort to meet the wants of the people, and to se-cure to them what they are entitled to demand, an honest, economical and efficient government. JEREMIAH M. RUSK.

If they can do this the caucus will strongthen their cause, as it will be a majority of all the Republican votes, the total being 110. Under this rule the candidates, it is thought, would drop out in about this order, taking into account the scattering vote; Davis, Colo, Gilman, Dunnell and lastly Hubbard. It was admitted in the Windom caucus held last night by Capt. Castle that Windom would have sixty members in the cancus, but it was doubted by all that they could get seventy-six in and bind them by the action of the caucus.

Origin of the Fire.

Origin of the Fire.

From all that can be learned the fire was first discovered on the third floor of the building, about the middle of the Midnigan street front. Private Watchman Richards turned in the box alarm, almost simultaneously with the telephone alarm from the hetel office, and in a fow seconds, it seems, the flames had leaped up to the sixth story, carrying death and destruction in their progress.

There is quite a conflict of statements regarding the alarm, but under the circumstances this is natural. Scane say the porter aroused the guests by shouting and pounding on the doors, but others say there was no alarm at all, that they learned of the fire by the hissing and crackling of the flames, and that only after all natural means of escape had been cut off. The fire-escape ladders, so one immate said, were really uscless, and virtually nobody was saved by them. To show that no alarm was given one traveling inan says that he saw another traveler at the express office who had barely escaped by sliding down a water-pipe from the fourth door, and he had had no thue to put on a coat or a nair of pants.

ne nes no doubt the the fire was of incendial origin, and thinks it was started in the back part of the barber-shop, as near the foot of the elevator as possible; so the flames might take advantage of that conductor to might take advantage of that conductor to spread to all parts of the building. The detectives, Riemer and McManus, Roundaman Sullivan, Lieut, Rockwood and Officers O'Brien and Palkowski, who were present from the first, entertain the same opinion. Others • believe it was set in the engine-room of Burdick & Armitage's printing office, also in the basemoof, among waste paper and combustible accumulations. If either supposition is true it corroborates the story of those above who were the first to cacape, as it would require but a the first to escape, as it would require but a few minutes for the flames to reach the clovator from either of these places.

The fire was extinguished at 9:15 a. m.

Insurance Matters. Among the insurance fraternity the Newball, building had long been considered a condemned risk. Many of the local agents expressed themselves yesterday morning that the building was wretchedly built, and not let for occupation. Col Joseph McC. Bell, a prominent agent, said that the building was thought by all versed in matters of insurance to be a miseruble shed, and that he had a surance content of the surance to be a miseruble shed, matters of insurance to be a miserable shed, and that he for years expected to see the walls full down from the action of wind and rain and its own weight. Col. Bell also said that during the process of building the hotel Mr. Nowhall, who erected the house, failed in business, and that, although the portion that had be in previously erected was probably substantial; the part that was built afterwards was put up carelessly and chouply. D. M. Belden, another insurance agent, said that the building was in every way musubstantial, and he had for years expected the confinguishment hat destroyed it. Loss and Insurance.

The insurance on the building is said to be $125,000, all held in Cincinnati agencies. This information was given by Mr. C. D. Nash, president of the Newhall house association. The less can scarcely be estimated with any legree of correctness, but it is generally thought that it will reach rully $500,000. The insurance agencies and general, effices on the first 1, or of the building scarcely saved any papers.

The Situation.

The scone at the ruins is weird in the extreme. A heavy snow-storm prevails, which serves to keep the steam from the water-dreneited piles of brick and mortar from arising, and nothing can be seen of the once famous structure but a jot of flamb blazing out in mid-air like a fre-ball. The police have extended a cordon along the side-walks of the surrounding blocks, and no one but policemen. Fromen, and reporters are allowed to pass through the streat. The tor-rible calamity has so dazed the people that with a few exceptions, they stare like grim specters, unmoved, surveying the scone of the horror. Dusiness in the city is entirely suspended, and morehants and mochanics are gathered in the neighborhood of the smouldaring ruins, or are discussing the horrors in the offices, stores and saloons in the neighborhood.

The House and Its History.

The House and Its History.

The Newhall house was built by Daniel Nowhall and his associates in 1857, and first opened to the public with a grand banquet, And. 20 of that year. The original cost of the building, including the lot, was valued at $50,000, and the furniture as put in by the first lessoer at $70,000. The building was situated on the southeast corner of Broadway and Michigan streets, being 180 foot by $20, builtof Milwankee brick, six stories high, with 300 rooms, and when built was the largest and floot hotel in the west. In 1803 the house became the property of C. D. Nash and Daniel Wella, but at the time of the fire was owned by a stock company and run under a loase from the stockholders. The first landlords were M. Kean, formerly of the Louisville hotel, and A. M. Rice, of the Anypican house, in Boston. The firm managed the hotel until 1800, when Mr. Kean retired, and the house was managed by the firm of line & Andrews until 1803. They were succeeded by Nash & Wells, and they in turn by Kingsbury & Johnson. In 1838 Groff & Hamlin were the landlords, followed the noxt year by Charles Anderson, who in 1871 was succeeded by L. Bonnell, who kept the honse until May, 1874, at which time J. F. Antisdel, the present lessoe, took possession. present lesses, took possession.

The Maine Statesman Passes Quietly Away.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 11. - Hon. Lot M. Morrill died yesterday morning. He suffered very little and his last moments were without pain or struggle. Members of the family and attending physicians were present. During his last moments the dying man recognized his family, and, with his last breath, attempted to bid them farewell, but with the word on his lips his epirit passed away. Hon. Lot M. Morrill was born at Belgrade,

Me., May 3, 1813. He was admitted to the bar in his 22d year, and laid the foundation of a lucrative practice. After removing to Augusta he became a leader of the Democratic party in the state. He joined the Republican party on account of the course of his party in regard to the slavery question, and in 1857 was elected governor as the Republican candidate. He took his seat as United States senator on Jan. 17, 1861. In 1863 he was reolected to the senate for the term ending in 1857. In 1871 he was again elected United States senator. During his long service in the senate he was a hard-money man, and voted in favor of the resumption act of 1875. When the resignation of Secretary Belknap occurred the prosident offered him a seat in the cabinet, which he refused. In July 1876, he became secretary of the treasury. His administration of this office was able and satisfactory. In 1877 he was made collector of customs at Portland, Me., by President Hayes and was subsequently re-elected to the senate. crative practice. After removing to Augusta

THE GAZETTE THURSDAY JANUARY 11,

The Eligibility Question Used to Break the Cullom Ranks. SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 11. -The event of yesterday in the legislature was the presenting of a resolution in the house by Herrington, of Kane, reciting the fact that the present general assembly is required to elect a United States sensembly is required to elect a United States senator. It recites at length section 6 of article 5 of the state constitution, and proceeds:

"Resolved, It is the rence of the house that none of the officers mentioned is article 5 above referred to should be voted for by members of the house for United States senator, but should serve out the full term for which they were elected."
A pointed discussion ensued and before long the engagement became general, and the fact that it was under discussion how through the capital attracted an immense crowd.
A motion was made choking off further debate by ordering the previous question. It was carried by a vote of year 77 to nays 66.
The motion to refer was lost, 37 members voting for it, while 105 negative votes were recorded, ""
The results of this move are already appar-

Ing tor it, wails 105 acgative votes were recorded. The results of this move are already apparent. Herrington's resolution constraing the teeligibility queetion has created a great deal of confusion in the Cullon ranks. Cullon's followers were greatly surprised when Republicans like Morrison, Foller, Crows and Pairish espoused Herrington's views of the question. Though somewhat discouraged by the turn thinge have taken, the Cullon forces are by no means ready to capitulate. The bulk of the deserters from Cullon and Rauni take refuge in the Oglesby camp. The general is a good position to win, having made no personal antagonisms. The outlook this morning is that it is the field against Cullom.

Appointments by the Governor Confirmed by the Senate. Lansino, Mich., Jan. 11.-Governor Begole sent in his nominations for state officers for confirmation by the senate. He named W. P. Innes, Greenbacker, of Grand Rapids, for railroad commissioner; A. P. Swineford, Democrat, of Marquelte, for commissioner of mine statistics; Eugene Pringle, Democrat, of Jackson, for commissioner of insurance; Elib Pond, of Ann Arbor, for warden of the state prison; D.R. Waters, of Grand Itapids, Warden of the state bourse for correction; Levi Barbour, of Detroit, member of the state board of charities and correction; Edward Kanter, of Detroit, and Foster Pratt, of Kalumazzo, state ponsion inspectors; Prof. V. C. Vaughar, of Ann Arbor, and Dr. C. V. Tyler, of Bay City, state board of health. He also named others for miner positions. All were confirmed except the first two named. Though the senate has a Republican majority, it had been agreed in cancus not to kick until certain obnoxious changes not yet begun are offered, and then there will be resistance. Mrs. Harriet A. Tenny was nominated and confirmed unanimously as state librarian. This nomination probably clears the way of all opposition by the senate to any other nomination. crat, of Marquelte, for commissioner of mine

à few months ago, as I was accompanying Latif Pasha, the Governor-General of Upper Egypt, on a tour of inspection, two men came to complain that the Sheykh of their village had had one of their relations strangled and had seized his land. They brought the corpse, sewed up in its shroud. "How long," I asked, "has he been dead?" "Some hours," they said. I desired it to be unstripped, and found it still warm. I felt the wrist and the pulse was still beating; so was that of the temporal artery, and very little disturbed. The eyes were shut, and there did not appear to be any voluntary motion. I prescribed an application of the Korbag (whip) to the soles of the feet which, as a counter-irritant, would relieve the head if life was not extinct. The dead man overheard me, opened his eyes, and asked for water. "God is merciful" said the complainers, "and has restored him to life." The Pasha, however, took a more matter-of-fact view of the case, and ordered them to be bastinadoed; while this was being done, I whispered to the corpse, "Your turn will come next; you had better slip away." It threw off its shroud and ran off. It was caught, however, and received its punishment. Having thus disposed of the fraudulent pleading, the Pasha heard the merits of case; and it appeared that the man had really been unjustly disposessed by the Sheykh, though he had thought it advisable to strengthen his case by adding an accusation of murder to one of unlawful eviction. - Conversations and Jour-

A Lady Who Is "Only Eccentric."

People seem to think that an insane person is not dangerous until he or she commits some deed or actual violence. says a New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Record. I know of a woman whose family say that she is not insane, but who goes into the parlor whenever her daughter has company and drives the terrified guests out into the streets. This singular woman has taken an aversion to pie, and for a long time there has been none on the family table; but one day recently the son, a young man of two-and-twenty, felt a longing for pie that he could not resist, and he had some sent home from the baker's. The waiter placed it on the table with as great unconcern as he could muster and stepped back to await results. The mothers' eye fell upon the offending dish. "A pie," she screamed; "who orderd a pie for my table?" "I did, mother," said the young man in a conciliatory voice. "You did, and you know I won't have a pie in the house!" and with that she sprang from her chair, and, seizing a carving knife from the sideboard, chased the young man from room, to room, and would have done him an injury if he had not escaped to a room where he could lock himself in. But the family say she is not crazy, she is only eccentric.

-The fifteen forts that now surround the city of Rome have an extent of about twenty-five miles, so that the vanguard of a besieging party would have to occupy no less a circuit than thirty-two miles, and the main force a circuit of thirtyeight miles. On the most modest computation the besieging army would therefore employ six or seven army corps—that is, from 150,000 to 180,000 men. The forts of Rome, if furnished with heavy artillery, are now capable of a tenncious resistance, without reckoning that a carrison even inferior to the enemy in numbers would be able to embarrass and retard his movements from the very first.

—A novel bridal trip has been made by a Texan and his wife. W. J. McLane, the owner of a $100,000 farm in Concho county, made the trip from his home to San Antonio, a distance of 150 miles, with his bride, in a wagon. After a short stay in the city they proceeded on their way to the coust. Mr. McLane is over fifty years old and his wife is about thirty-

"Only a Farmer's Daughter."

"Only a Farmer's Daughter," will be played to night at Lappin's music hall. Those who saw it last year will be apt to go again, as the play gave general satisfaction. This play deals with modern society life, wherein a happy family, consisting of a talented husband and father his wife, the wealthy farmer's daughter and their little girl, are agitated and almost divided through the machinations of an addenturess to supplant the wife in her husband's affectious, and thus gain access to his large fortune. It is highly, emotional, and, it might be said, sensations, and pleases all who see it.
